

Provinces have the same names as their respective capitals.